DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-3, 6-12, drawn to a nucleic acid molecule which encodes a fusion protein, a multi-copy vector comprising the said nucleic acid molecule and a host cell comprising the multi copy vector, classified in class 536, subclass 23.4.
- II. Claims 4-5, drawn to a fusion protein encode by a nucleic acid molecule, classified in class 530, subclass 387.3.
- III. Claims 13-20, drawn to a process of fermentative production of a protein and the isolation of the said protein, classified in class 435, subclass 69.7.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

The nucleic acids of Invention I are related to the protein of Invention II by virtue of encoding same. The DNA molecule has utility for the recombinant production of the protein in a host cell, as recited in the Claims of Invention I. Although the DNA molecule and protein are related since the DNA encodes the specifically claimed protein, they are distinct inventions because the protein product can be made by another and materially different process, such as by synthetic peptide synthesis or purification. Further, the DNA may be used for processes other than the production of the protein, such as nucleic acid hybridization assay.

Inventions II and III are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case the product can be made by a materially different process such as the process of making peptides using peptide synthesizers.

The product of invention of Group I is not made by the process of the invention of Group III.

Furthermore, an election is required with regards to P_x , S_x , B_n , Z_1Z_2 , T , protein(Y) and protein(Y_m). Applicant is required to define each one of the variables presented in the nucleic acid molecule of claim 1, in particular with regards to protein (Y), protein (Y_m), P_x , S_x and B_n , because alterations in each one of the mentioned variables can lead to a patentably distinct product. For example the applicant needs to define the nucleic acid sequence that is part of the nucleic acid molecule that encodes protein (Y_m) since alternative nucleic acid sequences can give rise to completely different proteins that are each patentably distinct.

The examiner has required restriction between product and process claims. Where applicant elects claims directed to the product, and a product claim is subsequently found allowable, withdrawn process claims that depend from or otherwise include all the limitations of the allowable product claim will be rejoined in accordance with the provisions of MPEP § 821.04. Process claims that depend from or otherwise include all the limitations of the patentable product will be entered as a matter of right if the amendment is presented prior to final rejection or allowance, whichever is earlier. Amendments submitted after final rejection are governed by 37 CFR 1.116; amendments submitted after allowance are governed by 37 CFR 1.312.

In the event of rejoinder, the requirement for restriction between the product claims and the rejoined process claims will be withdrawn, and the rejoined process claims will be fully examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. Thus, to be allowable, the rejoined claims must meet all criteria for patentability including the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 101, 102, 103, and 112. Until an elected product claim is found allowable, an otherwise proper restriction requirement between product claims and process claims may be maintained. Withdrawn process claims that are not commensurate in scope with an allowed product claim will not be rejoined. See "Guidance on Treatment of Product and Process Claims in light of In re Ochiai, In re Brouwer and 35 U.S.C. § 103(b)," 1184 O.G. 86 (March 26, 1996). Additionally, in order to retain the right to rejoinder in accordance with the above policy, Applicant is advised that the process claims should be amended during prosecution either to maintain dependency on the product claims or to otherwise include the limitations of the product claims. Failure to do so may result in a loss of the right to rejoinder.

Further, note that the prohibition against double patenting rejections of 35 U.S.C. 121 does not apply where the restriction requirement is withdrawn by the examiner before the patent issues. See MPEP § 804.01.
